X01CA - X-Analysis Professional - Cross referencing and documenting

Overview

The course consists of an interactive lecture, demonstrations and a hands-on lab covering the X-Analysis Professional modules. Lab instructions and i5 libraries are provided for you to execute the lab from your desktop and your i5 server.

Description

This course covers the X-Analysis Professional modules. The course explains how to generate and use the cross reference library used by X-Analysis. Use of the interactive GUI to review and analyze Data Flow Diagrams and Structure Charts is covered. Impact Analysis using the Variable Where Used functions as well as the Documenter and Application Area creation are among the topics covered.

Topics Covered

- -Generating the Cross Reference library
- -Data Flow Diagrams
- -Structure Charts
- -Program Structure Charts
- -Variable Where Used
- -Application Areas
- -Annotation
- -Pseudo code
- -Flowcharts
- -Documenter

Duration – 4 hours

Requirements

X-Analysis plug-in installed in one of the IBM Rational tools – WDSc, RDi, RDi for SOA, RSA or Eclipse on the students desktop.

Ability to connect from the students desktop to your i5 server for the labs.

Ability to restore the libraries required labs to your i5 server.

To register and receive schedule please contact training@databorough.com